Which curling iron is suitable for my hair type?

For those with thinner, fine hair, consider using a curling iron with a smaller barrel because even as curls lose their shape, their texture still looks styled. For thicker hair, a larger barrel is recommended as it better holds its shape.

What is a professional curling iron?

Professional curling iron with medium barrel and spring activated ergonomic lever for creating gorgeous, smaller sized curls. Unique Ultra-zone™ technology recognizes each section of hair and maintains the 365°F optimum styling temperature to minimize hair damage.

Does a curling iron have a clip?

Traditional curling irons have a spring-loaded curling tong that helps hold and capture hair for curling. However, other models called curling wands don't have clips. Instead, you use the barrel to create loose, beachy waves without a clip to hold the hair in place.

Who invented the curling iron?

In 1872 the French hair dresser Marcel Grateau patented his "curling iron", which was made of heavy tongs with rounded internal surfaces, in which one of the arms had a circular convex section and the other a concave one, so that one fitted into the other when the tongs were closed; they were then heated, allowing the hair be waved.

Are GHD curling tongs good for curly hair?

From tight ringlets to beachy waves, classic Hollywood curls to soft, wispy tendrils, the look you want is possible with ghd's range of curling tongs. Each product is carefully designed by expert scientists using patented tri-zone technology, which helps to minimise damage to your hair and give your curly hair staying power. Need a helping hand?
